

OFFICE OF THE BROOKLYN BOROUGH PRESIDENT

ERIC ADAMS
President

May 5, 2014

Dear Mayor Regalado,

We are two civic leaders with great pride in our home teams, one the mayor of over 400,000 Miamians and the other the borough president of over 2.6 million Brooklynites. In the spirit of promoting good relations between our cities and their many basketball fans, I wanted to personally relay to you my proposal for a friendly wager over the outcome of the playoff series between your Miami Heat and our Brooklyn Nets.

I am hoping that we can agree to terms involving some of our local products, so we can showcase some of the best our cities have to offer. I look forward to hearing what you might propose staking from the great city of Miami.

Best of luck to both teams (and go Nets!).

Sincerely,

Brooklyn Borough President Eric Adams
