Dan H. in West. Marcus Banks, of Patrick Henry Schools, led the West squad with 20 points in this contest. Timmy Jones, of the Wise High School, had the East squad with 24 points in this game.

 Wyrick helps West girls to win The West took a 7-0 victory over the East Monday night in the Virginia High School Coaches Association’s Senior All-Star girls basketball game at Christopher Newport University in Newport News.

Recent Central High School grad and Union College signee Hayley Wyrick played a big role in the West’s 24-point victory, scoring nine points with 15 rebounds. Wyrick’s post play production was second only to West MVP Charmaine Hairston of Franklin High. Hairston scored 20 points for the West in this game with 12 points for the high school varsity team. But, she has plenty of experience in youth ball programs as well so an assistant coach on both the high school and college levels.

Hayley is a former assistant coach at the non-defunct Powell Valley High School and served as an assistant coach for one year with the UVa-Wise softball program.

After taking a year off from the coaching ranks all together, Hayley said Wednesday is ready to get back into the softball game.

“I started watching some games later in the season and I missed it and wanted to get back into it,” said Hayley. “The Burton job came open and I applied for it and got it. I’m really excited to get back in.”

Hayley knows with a head coaching job there comes a little more pressure. But, he said he is looking forward to running the program and he will be running with the help of his assistant coach.

WISE — All-star games are supposed to be fun. It was a pretty good indication the players were doing just that in the consolation game of the UVa-Wise-Lenoir County Classic Challenge when a “player-coach” used rook-pawn-sacrifices to decide who goes to first base and who comes out of the game during a pitching change.

It was certainly a fun game to watch as the Black Diamond Destroyers rallied for a 1-2 win over the Lenoir County Cardinals Tuesday night at Pigeon Field.

The win gave the Destroyers second place in the three-team tournament, which is sponsored by the regional chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Homaker’s Austin Ray and Cluckernut’s Dylan Dabley were locked in a classic pitchers’ duel throughout the game.

The Black Diamond broke through against two relievers in the seventh, scoring twice. Homaker’s Drezel Bollard led off the game with a single, followed by singles from Bollard and Ray. The Black Diamond scored one run against the Lenoir County closer, A.J.PIPES

“Nooooo!” I cried as the stack of boxes toppled over, seemingly of my own free will. As I stood, watching dozens of tomatoes pour out across the parking lot. I had been working hard in the produce section of the store, attempting to load boxes of tomatoes and sort them. I had to be quick, I was out of time and needed to get it all ready for the day. But at that moment, I heard an engine revving and looked up to see a truck coming into the parking lot. As I drove by, it seemed as though my heart sank hearing the sickening sound of tomatoes being run over. “Oh no!”

“Of course,” I thought out loud. “This is going to be a disaster.”

All I could do was laugh. It all happened when accepting a large order from a local business for our church’s food bank, pushing a cart load of produce to the parking lot. I was pouring sweat and taking care to carefully load the boxes, but at that moment, my attention was caught by the sound of tomatoes being run over. The boxes toppled over, seemingly of my own free will, and boxes of tomatoes poured out across the parking lot. I had to be quick, I was out of time and needed to get it all ready for the day. But at that moment, I heard an engine revving and looked up to see a truck coming into the parking lot. As I drove by, it seemed as though my heart sank hearing the sickening sound of tomatoes being run over. “Oh no!”

“I was laughing before, now I was hysterical.” I thought out loud. “This is going to be a disaster.”

Finally, everything was set and we were ready to go. I stood on a row of boxes, watching the dogs move about, trying to make sense of the chaos. And at that moment, I heard a voice. “It’s going to be okay,” I thought out loud. “We’ll get through this.” And so we did. We gathered all the boxes and put them back in the boxes and threw up our hands.

But eventually, it was all worth it. We poured sweat and tears into making sure that the boxes were ready to go. And as we left the store, we felt a sense of pride. We had done it! We had finished the task, and it felt good.

Yard of the Month

The Green Thumb Garden Club is proud to present the Yard of the Month plaque to Debbie Laney of 214 McCoy Street in Ramsey. Debbie obviously loves her flowers and has an assortment of lilies and hanging baskets. Mr. Laney said he has nothing to do with “those flowers.” He just cuts the grass. Looks as if he does a fine job of that as well.
