Willy has been freed.
No, not the killer whale in the 1993 film “Free Willy,” but “Shoeshine” Willie Washington, who was released from City-imposed red tape.

The 79-year-old Marine veteran, who is considered the “honorary” mayor of Ocean Beach, almost lost his business recently due to alleged city code violations.

“Inspectors from the City of San Diego Code Compliance Division approved the clarification of storage use for Willie’s Shoe Shine Shed in Ocean Beach at 4905 Newport Ave. and Cable Street,” said Washington’s landlord, Michael Haas. “The case is now closed, and the shoe shine shed complies with all land-use regulations.”

Former City Councilman Byron Wear is among those who deserve credit for lobbying the city on Washington’s behalf.

Haas noted Washington’s shed is on the property where Mallory’s Furniture Gallery is located on Newport Avenue. Willie operates out of a storage shed and also is responsible for checking vehicles into and out of the parking lot.

Annual hot chocolate charity fundraiser on Garrison Street

Point Loma is special every holiday season thanks to two homegrown Yuletide events: the Ybarra friends and family’s “Hot Cocoa for a Cure” annual hot chocolate charity fundraiser, and the annual Garrison Street holiday light show.

The 17th annual Garrison Street charity fundraiser will take place 5 to 9 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 10 at the Freitas residence, 3616 Garrison St., across the street from the original location of the Ybarra home. Upwards of 1,000 cups of $1 hot chocolates and scrumptious baked goodies will be sold.

Carrie Ybarra said her family’s charity fundraiser started out small, but has since evolved into a neighborhood affair. All event proceeds each year are donated to a needy local Point Loma resident.

“Seventeen years ago it was just a little hot chocolate stand set up on a card table run by my two daughters in front of our house to raise money for a little girl in Tijuana having leg surgery, and we raised enough money to buy her a Barbie,” Ybarra said. “Now it’s...

Newport Ave. repaving postponed to Jan. by DENISE KNOX

Ocean Beach got an early Christmas present, as infrastructure work in the business district slated for December has now been rescheduled for after the first of the year.

“We are ecstatic that we won’t have the streets torn up in December in our neighborhood commercial hub,” said Denise Knox, about the sewer job and repaving of Newport Avenue in the community’s business district, which is part of ongoing replacement of 3,250 miles of water and 3,000 miles of wastewater pipelines citywide.

“Our merchants need every opportunity to have a successful holiday season, and we are grateful that the resurfacing will be delayed until January,” said Knox, the executive director of Ocean Beach MainStreet Association.

The next phase of the project will replace aging and deteriorating sewer mains on the public right-of-way and city-owned utility easements along portions of the streets and unnamed alley ways in Ocean Beach within the Peninsula Community Planning Area in Council District 2.

The project will replace 10,313 linear feet of existing 6-inch sewer main with new 8-inch PVC sewer main; place plumbing clean outs on sewer laterals located within the City’s right-of-way; use best-management practices for erosion control, storm drain inlet protection and restoration of disturbed areas to their original condition; resurface streets impacted by construction; and install new curb ramps that will improve mobility access for people with disabilities.

Some pipelines are more than 100 years old and deteriorating and are in need of replacement, repair and upgrades. To avoid future service disruptions, such as sewer main stoppages, spills and water main breaks, the aging pipelines are being replaced or rehabilitated.

“The Public Works Dept. is managing the contract for Sewer Group 721 in Ocean Beach,” said City spokesperson Monica Munoz, noting the contractor, KTA Construction, under supervision by the City of SD Public Works Dept., “has notified the community regarding the replacement of sewer mains and also the alley demolition and pouring of new concrete in the alleys. These roads are in very poor condition and will all be replaced.”

Munoz pointed out replacement requires alleysway to remain free of cars for about five to seven days. She said OB Holiday Ornament 1508, will resurface OB streets. A door hanger notification from the City should have been distributed to the impacted properties.

“I have contacted the 1508 project team to request a change in their schedule so that the work can be performed after the holidays in the OB business district,” Munoz said.

Newport Avenue will be resurfaced one side, one block, at a time. Anyone experiencing problems with disruption from resurfacing is urged to call the OBMA office at 619-224-4906 to report it.

OB Holiday Ornament

Pointers win Southern California volleyball title

By SCOTT HOPKINS | The Beacon

On Nov. 4, Point Loma’s No. 7-seeded girls volleyball team lost a CIF Div. I quarterfinal match to Del Norte, ending the team’s dream of a second San Diego Section CIF championship in the past three years.

The loss left the girls with a 20-12 overall mark including a 7-3 Western League record, good for a second place finish behind undefeated Cathedral Catholic.

After shedding tears of disappointment, the Pointers, who don’t have a single senior on their roster, vowed to make a serious run for the title in 2017 and dispersed.

But a surprise phone call suddenly brought them back together and sent them on a journey that ended with them winning the Southern California championship, losing only one set en route, and playing in a state championship match for the first time in the school’s history.

The Lady Pointers learned they had been selected by the California CIF to play in the 39th annual state championships as a Div. IV entrant.

And they were given the No. 2 seed.

The team hastily re-formed and continued practice sessions under head coach Davis Ransom, whose arrival in 2010 signaled a revival of the sport at the school.

Playing on their familiar home court, the Pointers first met Providence High School’s Pioneers of Burbank, who arrived at the first round with a 22-6 record. But they left after being eliminated in a 3-1 Pointers victory with set scores of 25-18, 25-26, 25-23 and 25-20.

In a regional semifinal game Nov. 26, the Roadrunners from Loma Linda Academy (26-4) visited the Pointers and were also dispatched with a 24-8 record. That match, played last Saturday, pitted the Pointers against Northern Division champion Menlo School from Atherton, who entered the finals with a 24-8 record.

The long playoff road finally ended for the Pointers as the Knights defeated them in a straight set victory by scores of 25-18, 25-13 and 25-21.

Ransom was thrilled with his team’s performance and excited about the possibilities that will arise next season with every team member returning. This year’s team numbered two freshmen, five sophomores and eight juniors.

Team members include Sierra Pennell, Katharine Oscott, Mia Hegerle, Rebecca Nuanez, Sydney Hill, Sophia Altobelli, Hailey Brockett, Sierra Caffo, Delaney Sanders, Kylie Komo, Reese Turner, Lauren Valenzuela, Charlie Ekstrom, Maggie Wolf and Tara Def Benedetto.

Extra points

Maintain their 4-1-23 participation in California, the third highest of any girls’ sport according to the state CIF office.

The 2014 Pointers stunned long-time champion LaCosta Canyon by defeating them in a thrilling match to win their first-ever CIF title in 2014.

For the Menlo School team that won the state title, this marked their sixth state championship appearance and first win.

Del Norte, who eliminated the Pointers in the local CIF tournament, went on to win the San Diego CIF Div. I championship over No. 4 seed Otay Ranch.

Pee Wee Pointers to play in Pop Warner Super Bowl

By SCOTT HOPKINS | The Beacon

A team of 29 youth football players from Point Loma arrived in Florida this week to win a championship.

The Point Loma Pointers, a Jr. Pee Wee division Pop Warner team from the Peninsula, is in Lake Buena Vista, Fla., where they will compete in the Pop Warner Super Bowl against the Southeast Dallas Wolverines on Friday, Dec. 9 at the ESPN Wide World of Sports Complex.

The Pointers beat the Title Town Titans 25-6 on Tuesday, Dec. 6 in Florida.

The Pointers earned this winner’s bracket game by shutting out the Lenape Valley Indians, from Pennsylvania, 32-0 last Saturday to improve their record to 14-0.

In that game, Pointer quarterback Matthew Pentland completed seven of eight passes, three of them for touchdowns. One scoring pass went to Drake Cobb and two were snared by Jackson Emerson.

The final score was made on a seven-yard run by Chris Kohli while placekicker Aaron Lee kicked a 17-yard field goal, was two of three on extra points and ran in a two-point conversion.

The Titans, from South Georgia, moved on by blasting the Milford Eagles (South Connecticut) 40-7.

During the regular season, every one of the Pointers’ games had a “mercy rule” ending in which one team has a large lead and the remainder of the game is played with a running clock. Local prep football includes a similar rule.

Of course, there are some distractions for the players, most of whom attend Dana Middle School. The primary activity is three days of scheduled visits to Walt Disney World theme park spread around practices and required study hall time.

The head coach is Pete Balistreri, a 1996 Point Loma High alum. Balistreri played quarterback during his prep days and also was a baseball player. He went on to play football at SDSU before a knee injury ended his playing career. His son Rocco is a member of the Pointer team.

This victory gave the Pointers the Southern California championship and sent them to the state finals at Santiago Canyon College in Orange.

That match, played last Saturday, pitted the Pointers against Northern Division champion Menlo School from Atherton, who entered the finals with a 24-8 record.

The long playoff road finally ended for the Pointers as the Knights defeated them in a straight set victory by scores of 25-18, 25-13 and 25-21.
San Diego Unified School District Connected to Fast, Reliable Network

Ninety-two San Diego Unified School District schools now have access to a 175-gigabit network as part of an agreement with Cox Business. As part of the agreement, Cox Business built out 54 miles of fiber in San Diego. A total of 189 schools in the district are now connected to a fast, reliable Ethernet network through Cox Business that will enable all types of digital learning, not only inside the classroom, but also distance learning between schools and organizations outside of the district.

“San Diego Unified students already have access to some of the best technology in education today; but as anyone who has ever left their cell phone service area knows, the best technology is only as good as the internet service that connects you to the world,” said Cindy Marten, superintendent of San Diego Unified School District. “Thanks to this partnership with Cox Business, our students will have access to enterprise class WiFi service, allowing them to collaborate with their teachers and peers in amazing new ways.”

The network that Cox Business has built for the district is the largest fiber project the company has undertaken for a single customer in San Diego to date.

“The network that we’ve designed for the school district is unique in its construction, the large number of sites being connected, and the high bandwidth capacity that is being delivered,” said Larry Coval, Vice President of Cox Business in San Diego. “We’ve built a network that has the bandwidth to serve the district’s needs for its teachers and students now and in the future.”

Serving more than 130,000 students, from preschool through grade 12, San Diego Unified School District is the second largest district in California, with a diverse student population representing more than 15 ethnic groups and more than 60 languages and dialects.

Cox Business is the commercial division of Cox Communications that serves business customers of all sizes, school districts, medical facilities, hotels, local government and the military. For more information on Cox Business, visit coxblue.com.

Peninsula planners ask city for judicial review of PLHS project

In the continuing battle over lights at Point Loma High School’s stadium, the Peninsula Community Planning Board in November opted to send a letter to city officials asking them to seek judicial review of San Diego Unified School District’s action to exempt the high school from local zoning ordinances and regulations.

The motion, made by board member David Dick, an attorney and PLHS alum, which had been tabled from the previous month’s PCPB meeting, passed by a 9-2 vote.

Dick’s motion proposed sending a letter to the mayor’s office and outgoing city attorney Jan Goldsmith to urge the city to initiate action in San Diego Superior Court to “determine if SDUSD’s action to exempt the Point Loma High School Whole Site Modernization Project from local zoning and regulations was proper.”

“I’m not asking us (PCPB) to determine whether the Whole Site Modernization Project, or any element of it, is appropriate,” said Dick. “But I feel it’s our duty, as a planning body in our community, to simply ask the city to seek expert opinion about whether the school district’s action to exempt itself from local regulations was arbitrary and capricious.”

“If the city took this up, would you have the expectation that they would have to enjoin the (school) district from moving forward with the contract that is now under way?” asked board member James Hare.

“I’m expecting the city to take the action I’m asking us to ask for,” replied Dick.

The PLHS Whole-Site Modernization and Athletic Facilities Upgrade Project, of which proposed stadium lights is a part, is the first phase of planned long-range, multi-phase improvements at the school.

In May, SDUSD unanimously endorsed in non-essential documents for Point Loma High’s long-term modernization including stadium lighting. Shortly thereafter, 17 neighbors of the high school, adamantly opposed to adding new stadium lighting, filed a class-action lawsuit against SDUSD.

High school neighbors claim new lighting will harm their quality of life adding more noise, crime and visual pollution to their already overcrowded and impacted neighborhood.

They also fear further commercialization of the PLHS stadium by outside interests, which they claim wouldn’t benefit local students or the community.

Grover vice chair Robert Goldyn asked if Dick’s motion would be precedent-setting, to which Dick replied that something similar occurred not long ago in the Palomar Community College District over a legal challenge to that school district exempting itself from local zoning regulations.

“I feel as an elected body that we should be handling this issue, taking it up,” said board member Jerry Loafia.

“The law needs to be fixed and this is an assurance that transcend our community covering the entire city,” said Dick. “It’s a big issue, field use policy, and the intensity, and frequency of use of the field, specifically the lights.”

Hare supported Dick’s motion, while referring to it as a “Hail Mary,” last-ditch effort.

“It faces a couple of hurdles, including whether the city will respond to this request (at all), or that a judge will come out in favor of it,” Hare said.

Hate crime at New Americans Museum under investigation

Police said a hate crime committed at a Liberty Station art gallery shortly after Thanksgiving likely won’t be solved unless a witness with information leading to the culprit(s) steps forward.

“This crime is one that doesn’t have any witnesses or any video surveillance,” said Lt. Scott Wahl, public information officer for San Diego Police Department. “Barring someone coming forward—we’re not going to solve this one.”

“In plain daylight, a hate crime took place at the New Americans Museum when signage was defaced with anti-immigrant-biased statements,” said New Americans Museum’s executive director Linda Sotelo. “A police report was filed. SDPD is classifying it as a hate crime. The FBI was notified.”

Sometime on Saturday morning, Nov. 26, two signs in the New Americans Museum (NAM) at 2825 Dewey Road, Suite 102 in Liberty Station, were found defaced with the messages “Too much Immigration!” scrawled on one, and “over population & crowding by immigrants!,” scribbled on the other.

Sotelo noted “museum staff and volunteer trainings will be implemented and we plan to convene a meeting in the coming weeks at NAM to come together as a community to discuss ways to address and support each other as these types of hate crime incidents, big and small, emerge at local levels given our nation’s charged political climate and the intolerance it has awoken.”

“We are deeply troubled and saddened by this incident, and more vigilant than ever as our core museum’s mission to uplift and celebrate our immigrant contributions and heritage has been directly assaulted with anti-immigrant defacement,” said Sotelo.

“Hate crime motivated by race, ethnicity, religion, disability, sexual orientation, national origin or sexual orientation is an enhancement to the crime,” explaining, “If I punch somebody in the face, that’s battery. But if I punch somebody in the face because of their race or their religion — it’s a hate crime motivated by hate, which is an enhancement.”

Fortunately, in the museum’s case, the defacement was not ineradicable. “I believe it was done with dry magic marker and they (museum) were able to wipe it right off, so there was no permanent damage,” Wahl said, adding it was a crime nonetheless being a “defacement of advertising.”

If the perpetrators are ever caught, Wahl said it would likely be a civil case for “defacement of advertising.”

“Unfortunately, most calls aren’t from prospective buyers, but rather from every real estate agent in town who will start to hound you for your listing,” said Sotelo. “We have to emphasize that we need public support on these types of crimes if they’re to be solved,” Wahl said. “It’s very frustrating to see this in the community. There are a lot of unknowns.”

Proceeds of the Hot Cocoa for a Cure fundraiser will be donated to Alex Barbosa (above), the 22-year-old son of John and Andrea Barbosa, and an SDSU student majoring in kinesiology, who was in a bad motorcycle accident. (Left) Some of the popular decorations on Garrison Street.

turned into a community event where people not only donate, but help run it. It’s amazing.”

“This year we’re donating proceeds to Alex Barbosa, a boy who was in a bad motorcycle accident,” Ybarra said about the 22-year-old son of John and Andrea Barbosa, an SDSU student majoring in kinesiology. He works as a personal trainer on the Naval base, a physical therapist aid, and enjoys his time spent with his brothers at Phi Kappa Theta.

On Oct. 12, Barbosa was in a motorcycle accident leaving him in critical condition with a C-spine fracture, broken jaw, breathing and feeding tubes, blood in his lungs, a rod and pins in his left leg, and his right leg amputated below the knee. Fortunately, his brain CT scans remain stable. All donations should be made payable to the UPSES for benefit of Alex Barbosa.

Past hot chocolate fundraiser recipients have also included a victim of domestic violence, a child with brain cancer, a boy who was shot and survived, and many others in need.

The public is encouraged to come out for hot cocoa, yummy treats, music and an appearance by Santa starting at 5 p.m. Special appearances at the chocolate charity are also to include live music and a fire truck visit. It’s a dual celebration, as hot chocolate fundraiser guests will also be able to feast their eyes on the traditional, dazzling Garrison Street lights display. Kyle Ybarra noted the Garrison holiday light show “has started to stretch beyond our little two blocks. We have new families on Garrison Place that are lighting up that side of the street that has been pretty dark.” Eventually, maybe a few years from now, it will be considerably larger.”

The Garrison Street Christmas lights tradition began as a “friendly” competition nearly 30 years ago between the Judd family’s mother and daughter trying to outdo one another with their holiday displays on the block between Chatsworth Boulevard and Garrison Place.

The Christmas tradition began with just a small nativity scene, then added a Santa, angels and Mickey Mouse characters in windows and has since morphed into something more resembling Disneyland.

Other neighborhood homes have since joined in adding lights and other things, like big blow-up displays of Santa Claus and his reindeer, snowmen and other Christmas icons.

The Ybarras request that friends, families and neighbors show up on Dec. 10 to buy hot cocoa, treats or make a donation.

“If you sign up to bring something, please drop it off by Dec. 8, with the exception of baked goods,” said Carrie Ybarra. “Individually wrapped baked goods can be dropped off anytime on Friday, Dec. 9.” Donors are requested to leave all items on the porch of 3631 Garrison St, noting who it’s from.

Happy Holidays

WISHING YOU
PEACE & HAPPINESS THIS SEASON
Community organizations and volunteers come out year after year to help Ocean Beach MainStreet Association (OBMA) spread holiday cheer throughout the charming beachside neighborhood.

Ocean Beach doesn’t go unnoticed when it comes to its decorations and that’s because, unlike many other communities, volunteers opt to make their decorations rather than buy them premade. The process starts in early July when the OBMA committee assesses the previous year’s decorations to see how much of it they can use and how much they need to order; then in early November a group of individuals come together at 7 a.m. to get everything prepped and ready to be hung.

“Every year we buy yards of greenery,” said Denny Knox, OBMA executive director. “Then we have teams of volunteers cut and assemble the greenery, before finishing it off by adding bows.”

Close to 30 board members, committee members and active community members volunteer to help throughout the decorating process. The holiday installations are hung up the Saturday before Thanksgiving with the help of many volunteers, including Sunset Cliffs Surfing Association and Newbreak Church – who bring their trucks and ladders to lend a hand.

“It really is a team effort,” said Knox. “We couldn’t do it without the help of the community. Even a local artist, Ashley Lewis, designs our holiday banners. It’s amazing to see everyone come together to make OB festive and the best part is that they all have a really good time doing it.”

Happy Holidays from our family to yours!
Blue Bridge Hospitality project principal David Spatafore has spent the better part of the year assessing and responding to the ever-evolving needs of Liberty Public Market. In response to larger-than-expected crowds, Spatafore decided to increase the amount of public seating within the market hall. He and his team recently welcomed the addition of four new vendors since its debut and have since tweaked the format for a number of concepts.

Next, in conjunction with executive chef Tim Kolanko, Spatafore plans to build on Mess Hall restaurant’s successful market-to-menu concept through the creation of three distinct eateries to be located in the market’s eastern-most dining hall: Mess Hall Bar, Pi Bar and Grape Smuggler Bar. The existing Mess Hall restaurant and cocktail bar will close this week for the new build out, with plans to re-open by Dec. 19.

“Inspired by the format of the Pine Street Market in Portland and confirmed by the various bars within La Boqueria in Barcelona, I recognized that we could still take a more elevated approach to our restaurant’s culinary program while integrating the format of the surrounding market and increasing the common social areas,” Spatafore said.

Mess Hall Bar

Mess Hall Bar is the fast-casual reincarnation of Kolanko’s former upscale market restaurant. The counter service concept will offer an all-day menu of seasonally-driven, market-sourced fare, incorporating previous Mess Hall menu favorites with a dedicated focus on local liquors, sours and accoutrements. The eastern dining hall. The concept will evolve into a wine and tapas bar that draws from Majors’ personal passion and enthusiasm for the lesser-known, undiscovered vineyards around the world. Grape Smuggler Wine & Spirits, located in the main market hall, will continue sell a rotating collection of global varietals, alongside a dedicated selection of local liquors, sours and accoutrements.

Pi Bar

Specializing in wood-fired pizza al taglio, a Roman-style pie popularized by its characteristically rectangular shape, Pi Bar’s two-foot-long pizzas will be available by the slice or as a whole pie. Traditionally served as a quick-service snack, pizza afficionados can indulge in classic flavors, such as a classic red pie or experiment with a rotating selection of chef-styled creations, such as a butternut squash, Brussels sprouts and fresh ricotta pie or the crème fraiche, bacon and comté pie with caramelized onions. In addition to pizza, Pi Bar will offer a selection of hand pies and pot pies. Highlights include the current lamb hand pie, chicken and mushroom pot pie and a dedicated focus of sweet pies from Blue Bridge executive chef Lori Sauers.

Bob Peace making his mark on the Ocean Beach scene

By Bart Mendizola | The Beacon

San Diego’s music scene continues to draw in talent from around the world, coming for both the great weather and ability to play year round, as well as enflusing the locals with the energy the visiting artists bring.

“It was always ‘religious’ for me, so to say,” Bob Peace said. “There’s something about San Diego’s music scene that seems to work out,” he mused.

“Recently I watched a couple Netflix movies, one on Janis Joplin and one on Muscle Shoals (studio). Those really inspired me to be honest and share what’s deep in my heart,” He includes Jimi Hendrix as a key influence. “I love Hendrix,” he said. “He was just a true and sensitive cat, like all artists that Sun Coffee means to be.”

While his focus is on original music, Peace’s sets include plenty of choice covers. “Anything that moves people to like, he said, pointing out Tom Petty’s “Free Fallin’” as a favorite.”

“Everything is so messed up right now in the world,” he said. “I’m just doing my best to make music, to help people and to make things a little easier.”

“Bob Peace is making his mark on the Ocean Beach scene,” he concluded.

Key of She concert

Key of She performs at Liberty Station’s White Box Theater, 2590 Truxton Road, Studio 205, at the corner of Truxton and 19th Street on Sat. Dec. 9. The concert will feature jazzy versions of old holiday favorites, traditional holiday tunes, and a bit of miscellany. There will be a reception following the show.

Holiday Tea and Bazaar

Point Loma Garden Club hosts its annual Holiday Tea and Bazaar from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 14 at Portguese Hall, 2818 Ave de Portugal. Open to the public. Beautiful fresh and dried decorations include wreaths, table runners, candles, and individually wrapped gifts for the home and family. Prices are reasonable and all proceeds go to philanthropies. www.plg.org.

Contas meeting

The annual meeting of the Portuguese S.E.S. Inc. known as the Contas will take place 7 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 29 at 2818 Avenue de Portugal. All member and potential members are invited to attend.

TechOutfitters - Coffee and tech retail store in the Point Loma Village

TechOutfitters is a one-of-a-kind coffee and tech retail store in the Point Loma Village. The store is the first of its kind and brings together local craft-roasted coffees and global mobile technology tools and gifts like hobbyist drones and the popular BB8 robot toy.

Customers can explore a rich landscape of experiences and tastes including locally craft-roasted coffees like a smooth tasting Bolivian coffee from Café Virtuoso, Beach Goth from Swell Coffee Co or Night Shift from Revolution Roasters in Leucadia. Kids can play with tech toys like Play Osmo or Sphero’s popular BB8 robot while parents try out tech tools like a Brydge bluetooth keyboard or waterproof cases from Catalyst.

The mobile repair service counter is also popular as trained technical professionals will fix cracked screens and many other mobile device issues onsite. Open Monday – Friday 6 AM-9 PM; Saturday 8 AM-9PM and Sunday 8 AM-5 PM.

Come in and give us a try. Piza napoletana is made with soft dough and takes about a minute to cook, this kind of pizza has several distinctive char-acteristics... soft and foldable and can be considered “wet” by American stan-dards and the pizza crust has blackened char spots. Making pizza napoletana requires strict process: the dough has to be prepared 24/48 hours before the use and has to be hand stretched by a skilled pizzaiolo, most of the product used are only available in the Campa-nia region of Southern Italy, first rate ingredients are essential.
