Liberty Public Market

Liberty Station
When it comes to great food, services in Point Loma, Old Town, look no further!

There are plenty of businesses in Point Loma and Old Town ready to offer residents and visitors all the goods and services they desire.

Point Loma, with its iconic peninsula finger dipping into the Pacific, is home to a wealth of fabulous homespun eateries, fine-dining establishments, and sumptuous wine bars to cap off a relaxing evening together.

Liberty Station is becoming one of hottest areas for arts, entertainment, culture, and shopping, packing an extensive array of shops, markets and restaurants all into a single community.

Shelter Island, with its incredible buy views and stunning downtown panoramic, boasts some of the finest and most beautiful waterside hotels and restaurants.

In the Midway District, discover mouth-watering barbecue, cozy cafes, sporting-goods and home-improvement outlets, and all forms of entertainment.

The awards in the following pages were chosen by our loyal readers, which we value. Some of the winners may already be your favorites. Others you might not be familiar with.

But now you have the consensus of fellow readers to help you decide where to shop, dine and conduct your business.

Best Bakery

Con Pane

Con Pane strives to be the best artisan bread bakery in San Diego County. The bakery-cafe offers more than 20 flavors of handmade artisan bread, decadent morning pastries, inventive sandwiches, coffee and espresso drinks. Now that you do, you guys have probably figured out that this Point Loma eatery toasts many of its types of bread as heavily as what it puts between them, from a turkey Cobb sandwich with avocado to a raisin and Hazelnut Batard. There’s a three-bread platter that comes with olive oil and goat cheese to help you decide on your fate. Good bread makes the best of companions. Here, you’ll find both.

Best Beer Selection
Slater’s 50/50
Slater’s might be known for its “Burgers by Design,” but it’s the restaurant’s tap list that has made it a favorite of San Diegans. With more than 100 beers on tap, from Abita Purple Haze to Young’s Double Chocolate Stout, and all the alphabet letters in between, there’s a beer for every glass. Best-paired with Slater’s beers is the “go/gf” burger, but don’t let its menu curtail your selection, you can create a burger with your own wish-list of toppings to pair it perfectly with your brew.

Point Break Café
San Diego’s favorite eatery, located in the heart of Point Loma, serves up delicious local fare for breakfast, lunch & dinner. Located in the Shelter Island, Point Break is the perfect destination open from 6:30 a.m. on weekdays and 7:00 a.m. on weekends and not closing until 9:00 p.m. or later. This is the place to be seven days a week for great food, excellent beers on tap, and a laid back ambience. If a happy hour pint or a Soja martini is what you crave, stop in from 3:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. daily and pair your drink with a mouthwatering appetizer.

Miguel’s
Miguel’s is a Shelter Island favorite. Enjoy seating on the restaurant’s marina-view patio, or dine indoors in one of the artfully designed dining rooms. Miguel’s is beloved for its award-winning Mexican food and incomparable fresh, locally-sourced meats, seafood, cheeses and produce along with its warm and loving spirit. Because more than anyone, Cecilia knows that food is not simply about menus and cooking—it is also a way of communicating. The essence of Cecilia’s warm and friendly style is wrapped in every little taco she serves.

Banzai
Appropriately named after the Japanese phrase used during celebrations and cheers, Banzai has recently opened up in the Midway District bringing a splash of Asian culture to this local neighborhood. Banzai is the new brainchild of the Waterfront family who are known for their true-blue, San Diego establishments, such as Eastbound, Harbor Town Pub, The Hills Local Pub, Club Marina, Werewolf and The Waterfront (the oldest tavern in San Diego). Patrons can expect American classics with an Asian twist, from burgers and burritos to tacos and bowls. For example, their Bahn Mi Sliders with pickled carrots, cucumber, cilantro, jalapeño and dojo sauce or their Poke Bowl with pickled carrots, grilled pineapple, edamame, cilantro, wasabi cream and crispy garlic.

Point Loma Seafood
It began with an idea... Point Loma Seafoods first opened its doors to the public back in 1963. Kelly Christianson and his wife Marie began selling fish out of a small store with one small display case. Kelly set exacting standards of quality and freshness, so much so that only the finest catches were kept for sale. In time, along with their sons Jack and John, Kelly and Marie slowly built Point Loma Seafoods' reputation as more than just a fresh fish market. Soon they began smoking and processing both sport-caught fish and fish for retail sales.

Fiddlers Green
Fiddler's Green had its origins in 18th century sailing lore. Common seamen, who repaired their lines with a splicing tool called a fid, dreamed of a sailor’s heaven, where after the long voyage their every desire would be fulfilled. Today, Steve and Deb of Point Loma and their friends welcome you to their own Fiddler's Green where the best food and drink — and perhaps a touch of merriment — are offered nightly in one of the world’s most renowned sailing ports. As they say at Fiddlers Green, “we hope you join us here as often as your voyages allow.”

Voted Best Bay View Hawaiian/Polynesian (Gold)
Most Romantic & Special Events (Gold)
Overall Restaurant/Sunday Brunch (Silver)

Bali Hai Restuarant
There’s no escaping the Hawaiian theme at this longtime San Diego fixture, it’s everywhere from the menu to the décor.
Hawaiian nachos, macadamia nut chicken, haole halibut and about a million more choices. The 50th state rules here by virtue of its cuisine, and its tiny place on the map be hanged. Meanwhile, the restaurant’s accouterments are ever-changing in deference to tiki art, or Polynesian carvings of human forms. And the fact that the building sits smack on the water only enhances the flow of things. Mahalo – and enjoy!
