SHOP LOCAL - Why buying your Gifts in Ocean Beach Matters

Shopping local is even more crucial now than ever as so many small businesses try to survive the pandemic.

About half of all the businesses reported a 25% drop in sales since the outbreak of the COVID-19 virus, and roughly one in five businesses have seen sales decline by more than 50%. If the economic climate continues 20% of small businesses may not survive. Small businesses employ 60 million people in the United States, almost half of the nation’s private-sector employers. In addition, small businesses generate tax revenues that help communities by funding schools, maintaining parks and contributing to public safety programs. Individuals looking for everything from clothing to home improvement services to office supplies can look to small businesses to fill those needs:

• Ocean Beach has unique and personalized gifts that you can't find anywhere else.
• Look for small businesses for any and all of your shopping needs. Chances are items sold by big box retailers also are sold by small businesses. When the options are the same or similar, purchase from a small business instead of its big box competitor.
• Readily provide recommendations of small businesses with which you have done business. Too often people are quick to complain about places that have failed them, but those same people don’t think to say kind words about companies that went above and beyond. Share great experiences on social media or through word of mouth.
• Talk to small business owners first if you have an issue. It’s tempting to go directly to social media to complain about something, but such complaints can have a dire impact. Always take issues to the manager or business owner first to see if a resolution can be reached. A manager may not be aware of an issue at all. Give small businesses a chance to make it right before taking things public.
