PB man starts petition to end homeless feeds

By DAVE SCHWAB

A Pacific Beach man has launched a petition drive, currently with 100-plus signatures, calling for coastal churches to end near-daily homeless “feeds,” a practice which has reignited public debate over whether homeless need a handout—or a hand up.

Matt Phillips, of North Crown Point, recently kicked-off his petition drive on change.org. It states: “The weekly dinners for the homeless population in Pacific Beach are contributing to the complacency and habitual state of their homelessness. Because of this, it’s logically apparent that this seems to be one of the primary reasons that we have such a population of homeless that never leave or attempt to get off the streets. Churches are enabling some of the crime that plagues our community.”

PAESAN picnic to honor first responders in PB

The Pacific Beach Town Council is holding its annual heartfelt salute to local emergency workers who make a difference in the community during the Police and Emergency Services Appreciation Night (PAESAN) on Wednesday, Sept. 27.

The event, held from 5 to 7 p.m. at the North Crown Point Shores Rotary Club Pavilion in the North Crown Point Shores area, serves to recognize and honor police officers, firefighters, lifeguards and park rangers for their hard work in protecting and serving the beach community.

The cost for the PAESAN event is $5 per person for a barbecue dinner provided by the Old Mission Beach Athletic Club, Sprouts, Trader Joe’s, PB Woman’s Club and American Legion PB Post will all be participating. Tickets may be purchased at the event, or at pbtowncouncil.org.

Three ridley sea turtles returned to ocean

By MATHILDE ROUSSEAU BJERREGAARD

Three olive ridley sea turtles, which had been rehabilitationing at SeaWorld for almost two years, were returned to their Pacific Ocean home Monday, Sept. 11.

The sea turtles, named Solstice, Lightning and Tucker, were rescued from cold waters near the Oregon coast in 2014 and 2015 and flown by the U.S. Coast Guard to SeaWorld San Diego for rehabilitation over the past few years.

Solstice and Lightning, both female turtles, arrived at SeaWorld in February 2015 and March 2016, and male turtle Tucker was transferred in April 2016.

When the sea turtles were found, they were cold-stunned and suffering from buoyancy issues, which left the animals unable to dive and forage for food.

“Sea turtles like tropical warm water and the temperature regulates their bodies ability to work. When the water gets cold the animal’s systems start shutting down and they end up on the beach,” said Mike Price, who is assistant curator at Zoological Operations at SeaWorld.

At SeaWorld, the sea turtles have undergone a groundbreaking rehabilitation protocol that involved placing the turtles in a 12-foot-deep, 115,000-gallon saltwater rehabilitation pool. Here, the sea turtles slowly but surely began to dive, forage and maintain proper buoyancy.

After the lengthy rehab, SeaWorld’s aquarium experts and veterinarians said that the turtles were in healthy condition, of good weight, navigating through a water column, eating a variety of food types, and were ready to make it on their own in their ocean home.

The sea turtles were loaded onto SeaWorld’s rescue boat, Second Chance, on Monday morning and returned to the ocean about 15 miles off the coast of San Diego. Prior to their return, the turtles were outfitted with satellite transmitters by Hubbs-SeaWorld Research Institute to monitor their movements and follow them for up to six months.

“What is so exciting about today is that after close to two years of hard work, we get to return the sea turtles and give them a second chance in life,” said Price.

Olive ridley turtles are the smallest turtle in the Pacific Ocean and they are listed on the federal endangered species list as threatened. “What is so exciting about today is that after close to two years of hard work, we get to return the sea turtles and give them a second chance in life,” said Price.

Ask The Trust & Estate Attorneys

Questions

My partner and I just had a child, how can we protect them in case something happens to us?

Answer

Congratulations on the new addition to your family! Having a new baby join your family can be a very busy and stressful time. It’s very important that you take the time to plan for your child in case something happens to you and your partner. There are two very important documents that we would recommend that your child take care of if something happens to you. The first document is a Nomination of Guardian of the Persons and Estates. This document allows you to name guardians who will physically take care of your child and will coordinate your assets to provide for the child. They are responsible for making all decisions related to your child’s health, education, maintenance, support and welfare. If you do not have a Nomination of Guardians document for your minor children, your partner will have to go to court and seek a Guardianship over the minor child, which is a long and expensive process. Having this document in place prior to your death will save your family a lot of time and will keep more money in your estate to be used for your child’s care.

The second document is a Medicaid Authorization to Consent to Medical or Dental Treatment of a Minor. This document allows you to name individuals that can make medical decisions for your child if you are unable to, for example, if you are the child’s mother and legally unable to be reached by phone. This document also states that if the hospital determines that the hospital must release your child to whomsoever you name in the document. This is a great document to have prior to going on vacation without your children or if you same, if a family member or friend is acting as your代理人. I strongly suggest having at least one of these documents in place prior to your child receiving the most time off.

Pool, fitness center on tap for YMCA-PBMS partnership

By DAVE SCHWAB

As a part of the YMCA of San Diego County’s strategic vision, the Pacific Beach chapter is hoping to enhance its presence in the beach community with a new manager and a more compelling vision.

“While the ultimate scope and scale of the new YMCA will be determined by the amount of funds secured, our current vision for a full YMCA facility will create a modern, vibrant gathering hub for all, providing wellness and recreation for Y members and the local community—and this does include a pool,” said Mike Roberts, executive manager of the Beach and Bay Family YMCA.

“Our vision is to expand the YMCA’s presence in San Diego’s beach and bay communities by building a state-of-the-art YMCA fitness center in Pacific Beach in partnership with the San Diego Unified School District. This new facility, located on the Pacific Beach Middle School campus, will partner with teachers, staff and families to provide year-round care for local youth,” Roberts said.

Noting fundraising efforts to help build this new YMCA facility are still ongoing, Roberts added, “We currently offer a selection of programs for families to participate in and help strengthen their spirit, body and mind.”

The capital fundraising campaign is anticipated to last approximately two years.

The YMCA already has a presence in Pacific Beach with summer day camps, programming and childcare, which are currently accepting registrations.

Courtney Pendleton, from YMCA’s public relations and communications, said, “The main ‘new’ pieces and items our team could further elaborate on at this time remain programs we are offering to the community now, ahead of the facility coming together.”

MBHS teams gearing up for league play

By DAVE THOMAS

Girls tennis
The Bucs, under head coach Trong Tong, come into play this week with an overall record of 3-2 (3-1 in league). “After getting off to a slow start, we’ve managed to bounce back and win our last three straight matches,” Tong said. “Despite losing one of our top singles players, Jerne Ward, for the season to tennis elbow and volleyball, we have been resilient, and we’re starting to find our footing with a reshuffled lineup. As we’re gaining confidence and momentum, we look forward to making a great run in the remainder of the season.”

According to Tong, some key players to date have been Amanda Edmunds, Jeanne Picard, McKenna Reichenberg, Carter Taffe, Jason Watts, Sean Pavone and Nick Russell. “With only two seniors, Kim Holoway and Shelby Moore, the team is working hard and really improving. We hope that by the time play-offs start, we will be in a good position to try to defend the Division II championship we won last year.”

To start the regular season last week, the Bucs fell to Francis Parker 4-1.

Girls volleyball
In girls indoor volleyball action, the Bucs, under head coach Steve Upp, have compiled a 7-3 record this year. Sophomores Ian Briski and Dusty Schroeder, junior Zander Caufield, senior Stephen Tarbell and key returners and give us a couple of seven seniors graduate last year, moving forward.

The Bucs will finish out their Season schedule with games against Patrick Henry (Sept. 22), which is homecoming, and The Bishop’s School (Sept. 29).

Girls volleyball
In girls indoor volleyball action, the Bucs, under head coach Steve Upp, have compiled a 7-3 record heading in to a very tough league schedule starting Thursday. Mission Bay is also hosting the Buc Bash on Saturday (Sept. 23). “With only two seniors, Kim Holoway and Shelby Moore, the team is learning every match,” Upp commented. “It is great to see the growth already.”

Dr. Moore brings steady hand to Pacific Urgent Care and Wellness Center in PB

By DAVE SCHWAB

Dr. Joseph Moore brings 30-plus years of experience as a Navy captain, physician and teacher to his post at Pacific Urgent Care and Wellness Center.

Moore serves as medical director at Pacific Urgent Care. Having graduated from the University of Virginia School of Medicine in 1982, he specializes in family and emergency medicine. He is affiliated with Sharp Coronado Hospital and Healthcare Center.

Moore brings his extensive expertise in sports medicine and urgent care to his practice. His focus on geriatrics, for example, allows him to provide his patients with an accurate diagnosis, immediate treatment and timely follow up.

“I do sports medicine and family medicine,” said Moore. “I treat everyone from seniors to students, everything from Friday night football to injured surfers to weekend warriors.”

Moore, who once practiced medicine in New Guinea with the military, has spears and other keepsakes on his office walls to prove it.

“People can get a referral, (lab) workups, an IV (intravenous),” added Moore about his practice, which includes treatment of respiratory conditions like bronchitis and sinusitis. “If you have an ACL injury playing soccer — we can handle it. I can diagnose, make the x-ray, put you in a splint, give you crutches, then start you on rehab and send you to an orthopedic surgeon.”

Asked about his patients, Moore said they’re a broad cross-section of people in PB.

“The majority are tourists, as you’d expect,” he said. “But the people in PB have found us. PB, as you know, is sort of a small town. So we have a lot in PB who’ve found us.”

Moore believes people are more health conscious today.

“If you go back to the ’50s in our culture, you once got out of high school or the Army, it was the last time you exercised,” he said, pointing out the need for exercise. “We deteriorate our strength at about 6 percent per decade,” Moore said. “We can get better, stay in shape with our bodies. And if you do so, the outlook for your older years is much better.”

Of his medical services, Moore said, “We’d like to see more patients, be it for sports medicine, or family practice. We serve families and individuals. We do everything from baby stuff to geriatrics.”

Dr. Joseph Moore continues to teach sports medicine at UC San Diego and at the Naval Hospital; as well as the national level at the American Academy of Family Physicians.
100 Wave Challenge in Mission Beach benefits Boys to Men mentor program

By LUCIA VITI

On your mark, get set, pop up and surf! Boys to Men invites San Diegans to its annual 100 Wave Challenge on Saturday, Sept. 23 at Mission Beach. Fueled by generosity and anchored in passion, more than 200 surfers will catch 100 waves in one day benefitting Boys to Men, a mentoring network established to provide life-changing opportunities for fatherless boys.

Surfing legends, Shaun Tomson, the 1977 world champion, and Damien Hobgood, professional surfer and World Tour team member, will lead a “tribe of bighearted surfers” from sunrise to sunset (6 a.m. to 4 p.m.) paddling solo or in teams. Participants will be sectioned by surf styles, long and short boards. Participants will be sectioned by surf styles, long and short boards. Participants will be sectioned by surf styles, long and short boards. Participants will be sectioned by surf styles, long and short boards. Participants will be sectioned by surf styles, long and short boards. Participants will be sectioned by surf styles, long and short boards. Participants will be sectioned by surf styles, long and short boards. Participants will be sectioned by surf styles, long and short boards. Participants will be sectioned by surf styles, long and short boards.

The 100 Wave Challenge is a pulse of Boys to Men’s work. In 2008, Boys to Men spearheaded the idea for the 100 Wave Challenge in Mission Beach. Now in its 10th year, the 100 Wave Challenge has raised over $600,000 to benefit Boys to Men’s mentor program.

“An armada of surfers, “surfing for a cause” has helped to grow the event to become the organization’s biggest fundraiser,” said Boys to Men co-founder Joe Sigurdson. “We’re so pleased with its continued success! Event funding enables Boys to Men to open new chapters quickly and efficiently.”

The annual event, now in its 16th year, will host an impressive lineup of industry leaders, or “wave warriors,” who share a commitment to the mission spearheaded by Boys to Men. The mentoring network aids at-risk, fatherless boys navigate their journey into adulthood. Noted to “break the cycle of violence, gangs, drugs and prison” often rampant in homes lacking an adult male figure, Boys to Men helps these young men “make better choices for themselves.” Boys to Men remains passionately optimistic in finding solutions that produce change.

“Our mentoring programs change lives,” said Craig McClain, the mentoring network’s co-founder and executive director. “An armada of surfers, “surfing for a cause” has helped to grow the event to become the organization’s biggest fundraiser.”

“A broad spectrum of leaders from the sports, health-care, entertainment, and media arenas will share their love of surfing while offering high-risk, often fatherless, boys the confidence, determination and life-skills to become the men they want to be,” said Bowman-Styles, the event’s special projects consultant.

Bowman-Styles admitted that while surfing 100 waves in one day (10 hours) poses its challenges, passion held by mentors creating life-changing opportunities for high-risk boys “realize and achieve their dreams” defies the seemingly impossible.

“The 100 Wave Challenge is our largest yearly fundraiser,” she said. “Surf ambassadors, surfers, surf angels and front-line participants engage in community outreach while enjoying the surfing spirit. Surfing keeps us tied to the ocean’s energy which is the heartbeat and pulse of Boys to Men.”

Tokyo Ska Paradise Orchestra brings their energy to Soma

By BART MENDOZA

Twenty-five years after its most recent revival, ska music continues to be one of the most popular sounds around. On Sept. 24, one of the genre’s leading lights, Japan’s Tokyo Ska Paradise Orchestra, will perform at Soma. Formed in 1985, the nine-piece band is touring behind their latest album, “Paradise Has No Border,” their twist on the sound being an infusion of jazz into the beats and rhythms. Tokyo Ska Paradise Orchestra is a high-energy affair that will please fans of both ska and jazz, the instrumental prowess and interplay of the musicians is stunning.

One of the finest voices in town, Marie Haddad, performs at Humphrey’s Backstage Live on Sept. 28. Haddad will be celebrating the long-awaited release of her sophomore album, “Stories from Atlantis.” Haddad has a beautiful, pure singing voice, perfectly matched to her piano-based, atmospheric pop tunes, in the tradition of Kate Bush or Tori Amos. Adding to the night’s appeal, you can expect special guests on the night, but there is no doubt that Haddad is amongst San Diego’s major talents.

Marie Haddad: Thursday, Sept. 28, at Humphrey’s Backstage Live, 2241 Shelter Island Drive. $7 p.m.

Andrew Tate (right) has a lead on Jimmy Shane in a heat Saturday. PHOTO BY THOMAS MELVILLE

Andrew Tate, in the Realtrac/Delta, took home the Bill Muncey Cup presented by HomeStreet Bank at San Diego Bayfair on Sept. 17, while Miss HomeStreet Bank’s Jimmy Shane won his third consecutive H1 Unlimited national championship.

Tate saved his best for the last race of the season by jumping out to an early lead and holding off a hard-charging J. Michael Kelly in the Graham Trucking boat. Earlier in the day, Shane locked up the national championship when Tate was penalized for crossing through a restricted area on the course and lost points, which helped Shane’s Madison, Indiana-based team win its eighth national championship.

What do you know about real estate LOCATION?
Maybe you heard: That the three most important factors in real estate desirability are - "Location, Location, Location!" This isn't always true! If it were, Kansas would be empty! Location is important. But so are - Amenities, Condition of Amenities, Price, and Timing! All real estate purchases are an "investment". What matters are your goals and your timeframe.
Remember: "A goal is a dream with a deadline."
I can help you achieve your dreams! Let's make it happen!
